What your colleagues are saying...

"The AFEC show is essential for helping engineers and managers with the learning curve associated with our positions. The education is cutting edge and is produced by current industry experts. It's 'THE' show to attend."

Mike Turzanski, Cushman & Wakefield

"There are so few places anymore to meet your customers face-to-face that I do it not to increase my business, but to KEEP my business. Meeting with your customers, and having them see you at events like this are critical in building a relationship. When I see my clients at a show, I know I'm in the right place."

Kim Lewis of Hot/Shot Infrared Inspections

"We have been an exhibitor at AFEC for a long time and it is one of our best shows. We feel that the reason it has been successful for us is that it is a hands on, nuts and bolts engineering show with the attendees being people who care about how their buildings work and they are looking to meet people who can add value to their day to day activities. They come to the show with the intentions of learning how they can do things better every day."

Joe Musso, Simplex Grinnell

"We have met great contacts at the AFEC show, and will continue to present at this event for years to come."

Steve Bein, CASI
